

Highlights

Global	While Spore markets were closed yesterday for holiday, Wall Street continued to eke out fresh highs, with the Dow closing above 23,000 for the first time aided by healthy corporate earnings including from IBM. The USD also strengthened amid speculation of a potentially hawkish Fed chair replacement for Yellen, with president Trump tipped to announce his decision before his Asia trip on 3 Nov. Fed rhetoric was also firmer, with Dudley suggesting that “we went into 2017 showing a median of three rate hikes and so far we’re on path to actually, for that to actually bear out” and “we still think pressure on resources will drive up wages over time”, while Williams opined that “one more rate increase in Dec and three more next year is a pretty good starting point”, albeit Kaplan said “I personally do not intend to raise the fed funds rate so that it’s nudging against the 10-year Treasury rate”. For today, investors would likely continue to focus on continuing headlines from China’s NPC and 3Q17 GDP growth prints, the New Zealand First party announcement of its coalition partner to form the government in New Zealand, as well as BI and BOK policy decisions today. The latter two are tipped to be static but watch for any potentially hawkish comments from BOK. Asian bourses could extend its firm tone today given generally improved risk appetite. Today’s economic data calendar comprises US’ initial jobless claims, Philadelphia Fed business index, China’s FAI, industrial production and retail sales, and Thai trade data. Speakers include Fed’s George and RBA’s Bullock.
US	The Fed’s Beige Book read that “economic activity increased in Sep through early Oct” despite “major disruptions” from hurricanes Harvey and Irma, and labour markets were “widely described as tight”, albeit “the majority of districts reported only modest to moderate wage pressures”. Meanwhile, building permits fell more than expected by 4.5% mom to 1.215m in Sep, and housing starts also shrank a more severe 4.7% mom to 1.175m.
KR	The Bank of Korea meets later today, where we expect policy-makers to hold interest rate unchanged at 1.25%.
ID	Bank Indonesia meets later today, and may be expected to stand pat after two surprise rate cuts in August and September. Recent comments from central bank officials suggest that the room for further cuts will be limited, although the political establishment appears to be hinting at a preference for further easing.
CMD	Gold slips for the third consecutive trading day, after the yellow metal touched its $1,300/oz handle briefly last week. Gold, characterized widely as a safe haven and a store of value, could have seen some profit-taking on easing geopolitical tensions (initial warnings by South Korea on a possible Pyongyang’s missile launch didn’t materialize to-date) amid mounting speculation that the next US Fed Chairman could likely be a policy hawk. Elsewhere, crude oil rose with WTI closing above its $52/bbl handle as market-watchers digested Iraq’s fall in oil exports after its clash with the Kurds, coupled with the plunge in US oil inventories by 5.73 million barrels.

Major Market

- US: Equities continued to climb on Wednesday, on better-than-expected earnings from industrial heavyweights like IBM. The Dow rose strongly by 0.70%, pushing through the 23000 handle with conviction. The S&P 500 and Nasdaq Composite also advanced to their respective record highs. Recent corporate earnings have been supportive of the bullish tilt, with most of the largest corporates printing better-than-expected numbers. VIX stand at 10.07, compared to 10.31 previously. US Treasury yields continued its recent uptick, adding 2-5 bps across the board. 2y and 10y benchmark yields now stand at 1.56% and 2.35% respectively. Watch for the announcement for the new Federal Reserve chair, which may come in “days, not weeks”, according to the White House spokesperson.
- Singapore: The STI rose 0.18% to close up at 3329.03 on Tuesday, and may play catch up today amid overnight gains in Wall Street. The STI resistance and support are tipped at 3340 and 3300 respectively. With the UST bond yield curve bear-steepening, the SGS bond market may be content to follow suit today while awaiting the 2018 SGS bond issuance calendar announcement before the end of Oct.

- Rating Changes: S&P has assigned Australian Technology Innovators Pty Ltd (ATI) an issuer credit rating of 'B'. At the same time, S&P has assigned a 'B' issue rating to ATI's term loan facility. The outlook is stable. ATI is the combined entity of InfoTrack Group Pty Ltd and LEAP Legal Software Pty Ltd. The rating action reflects S&P's assessment of ATI's leading market position, strong customer retention and renewal rates. Moody's has assigned MyState Bank Limited (MyState) issuer and bank deposits ratings of 'Baa1'; a Baseline Credit Assessment (BCA) and an adjusted BCA of 'Baa1'; and a Counterparty Risk Assessment (CR Assessment) of 'A3'. The outlook is stable. The rating action reflects MyState's very strong asset quality and conservative underwriting. However, the rating is constrained by the bank's geographic concentration, exposure to wholesale funding, and ongoing profitability pressures. Moody's has upgraded China Travel Service (Holdings) Hong Kong Ltd's (CTS) issuer rating and senior unsecured rating issued by its subsidiary to 'Baa1' from 'Baa3'. The outlook is stable. The rating action reflects Moody's expectation that CTS's leverage will continue to improve, underpinned by a solid rise in earnings, despite a slight increase in debt. Fitch has affirmed Beijing Capital Development Holding (Group) Co Ltd's (known by its abbreviated Chinese name of Shokai Group) Issuer Default Rating and senior unsecured rating at 'BBB-', while revising the outlook to negative from stable. The rating action reflects Shokai Group's aggressive land banking, which has led to an increase in leverage.
