Highlights

Global	Global risk appetite continued to diverge with Dow Jones eking out further gains to a record close, led by financials amid higher interest rate expectations, whereas the 10-year US Treasury bond yield continuing to spike to 2.14% and pressuring core Eurozone bond yields higher as well. Elsewhere, BSP kept its policy rate unchanged but raised its 2017 inflation forecast to 1.8%. For today, watch for BOK to keep its 7-day repo rate at 1.25%, as well as HK and Malaysia's 3Q16 GDP growth, India's industrial production, German CPI, and US' University of Michigan sentiments. Speakers include Fed's Fischer and RBA's Debelle. Asian markets could see some profit-taking into the weekend after a choppy post-election period.
US	Initial jobless claims fell 11k to 254k, bringing the four-week average to 260k, while continuing claims rose to 2.041m. Meanwhile, Fed's Bullard opined that December was a "reasonable time to implement that single rate increase" and that "there is not a level of global volatility that is troubling". Separately, Lacker noted that the US jobless rate "looks like" full employment and "very substantial progress".
SG	The STI rallied 1.58% to close at 2834.09 yesterday but looks vulnerable to some profit taking today given mixed cues from Wall Street, Nikkei and Kospi. The STI could trade in a 2800-2840 range today. SGS bonds tracked the UST bond sell-off yesterday and may stay under pressure today.
ID	Economy Minister, Darmin Nasution, said that the government sees GDP growth at 5.28% in Q4 this year. For 2017, it has a baseline projection for growth at 5.1% with possibility of reaching 5.3%. It plans to issue rule to simplify permit process for infrastructure industry soon and to develop alternative sources of funding for the build-up.
MA	GDP data for Q3 is due out today, with market and ourselves penciling in growth of 4.0%yoy, same as the previous quarter's data. Given that exports weakness is likely to be a drag, it would come down to whether domestic consumption stayed strong enough to support the headline growth figure.
Commodities	Dollar-denominated commodities from energy to gold and softs fell as the US dollar index (DXY) rose to its highest in the month. WTI in particular, closed below its coveted $45/bbl handle once again, while gold tapered lower to $1,266/oz. Notably, the International Energy Agency warned on a "relentless global supply growth" in the next year unless OPEC enacts "significant" output cuts in their upcoming November meeting.  Elsewhere, US equities have rallied for its fourth consecutive trading day after Donald J. Trump's victory in the presidential election race, suggesting that risk appetite continues to stay buoyant. Translating this to commodities, it does suggest that market-talks pointing to a huge rise in gold prices (>$1,400/oz) and a slump in oil prices (=$40/bbl) has not come to pass given this quick turnaround in risk sentiments.

Major Market

- US: Equities markets ended mixed as the Dow surged another 1.17% to hit a record high of 18808, while the Nasdaq declined 0.81%. The S&P 500 was comparatively muted, notching a small gain of 0.20%. Financials and healthcare continued to power the rally, in the hopes that regulations in these sectors will be rolled back under a Trump administration. Technology and utilities were the main losers, with the tech sector worried that Trump policies may not be favourable to Silicon Valley and the high-yielding utilities declining as bond yields surge. VIX rose 2.5% to 14.74. The US Treasury yield curve continued to steepen as inflation expectations re-adjusted. Longer term Treasuries continued to be sold off, with yields rising another 10 bps for the 10-year note, standing at 2.15%. 2-year benchmark yield were higher by 3 bps at 0.92%.

Bond Market Updates

- Market Commentary: The SGD swap curve bear-steepened yesterday with swap rates trading 2-16bps higher across all tenors. In the broader dollar space, the spread on JACI IG corporates decreased 7bps to 202bps while the yield on JACI HY corporates increased 3bps to 6.67%. 10y UST yield increased 9bps to 2.15% as the market continues to price in Trump's presidential victory.
- New Issues: Gansu Provincial Highway Aviation Tourism Investment Group Co. has priced a USD500mn 3-year bond at CT3+195bps, tightening from its initial guidance at CT3+215bps. The expected issue ratings are "BBB-/NR/BBB-". Yancheng Oriental has scheduled investor road shows from 11 November onwards for a USD bond issue with expected issue ratings of "NR/NR/BB+".
- Rating Changes: S&P affirmed Mitsubishi Motors Corp.'s corporate credit rating at "BB-" and removed the rating from CreditWatch after reviewing the possible rating impact from Mitsubishi Motor's falsification of fuel-economy data on its operations and financial performance. The outlook is negative as S&P believed that a recovery in profits in the next 6-12 months remains uncertain, given the risk that unit sales could fall further both at home and abroad and that the yen could appreciate further. S&P upgraded PT Japfa Comfeed Indonesia Tbk.'s corporate credit rating to "B+" from "B" with a stable outlook. The upgrade reflects Japfa Comfeed's initiatives to lengthen its debt maturity profile and because its operating and financial performances have surpassed S&P's base-case expectations.
