Highlights

Global	Market sentiment was roiled by Donald Trump's executive order, banning nationals of seven Middle East countries from entering the US. S&P 500 was down by 0.6% yesterday, in what is billed as the worst day since the election, as market is concerned that the new president might be distracted away from his reflationary economic agenda. For the week ahead, attention will likely be paid to the ongoing immigration order saga, as well as potential Supreme Court nomination. Meanwhile, the Fed is due to announce its monetary policy decision on Wednesday, with market expecting no change at this point, but awaiting further clues about how the central bank officials' latest thinking about the US economic prospects. The week ends with the announcement of the February NFP print on Friday, with market penciling in 175k, versus 156k of the previous month. For today, watch out for the BOJ central bank meeting, GDP prints from Canada and the Eurozone, including France, as well as the US Chicago Purchasing Manager. Note that the China, Hong Kong and Taiwan exchanges are closed today.
US	Energy stocks weakened as crude prices declined for the second session, while financials and technology stocks also posted losses as the broad market retreated from last week's highs. Overall, Nasdaq fell 0.83%, the S&P 500 declined 0.60% and the Dow lost 0.61%. VIX spiked 12.3% to 11.88. Meanwhile, the US Treasuries yield curve steepened from the long end, as yields on 30-year bonds were driven up by IG corporate issuance. 2- and 10-year benchmark yields last traded at 1.21% and 2.49% respectively.
ID	President Joko Widodo said that Indonesia is not affected by Donald Trump's ban on some Muslim-majority countries, while adding the equality and justice should be pursued. Foreign Affairs Minister Retno Marsudi advised Indonesian nationals living in the US to stay calm and has asked Indonesian consulates in various American cities to open 24-hour hotline services to anticipate any possible impact that might happen.
SG	The STI gained 0.43% on Friday, though on low trading volume ahead of the Lunar New Year. Gainers included CapitaLand (+2.14%), Jardine Matheson Holdings (+1.4%) and CapitaLand Commercial Trust (+1.3%). Losses seen in Keppel (-1.9%) and Sembcorp Industries (-1.5%) cushioned overall gains. For today, do expect continued risk aversion seen over the weekend, with the STI likely to surrender some of its previous gains seen over the last week.
Commodities	It was an eventual weekend for the commodities market. Crude oil fell for the second consecutive trading day with WTI falling over more than a cumulative 2.0% decline since Monday. Initially, risk-aversion was the buzz-word on the streets, with US economic growth slowing to 1.9% (vs market est 2.2%) qoq annualised in 4Q16. Moreover, higher US oil rig counts (+44 rig counts cumulative over the last two weeks, the fastest growth rate since November 2012) would had dragged prices. Then the news of Trump's travel ban spooked investors and dragged both Wall Street (Dow below its 20,000 handle) and growth-related commodities like energy and base metals. Gold is up 0.4%.

Bond Market Updates

- Market Commentary: The SGD dollar swap curve traded downwards last Friday with swap rates trading 1-2bps lower across all tenors. Swap rates were range-bounded yesterday, trading +/- 1bps across all tenors as Singapore's market was closed due to Chinese New Year holiday. The Itraxx Asia ex-Japan IG index closed at 115bps yesterday, widening 4bps from last Friday's close. 10y UST yields fell 2bps to 2.48% on Friday and rose 1bps to 2.49% yesterday. 10y UST yield fell to a 2.46% low during Asian trading yesterday, mainly over the weekend confusion about President Trump's executive orders restricting immigration.
- Rating Changes: Moody's assigned 'A1/P-1' provisional ratings to Mizuho Securities Co., Ltd. (MHSC) and its overseas affiliates: Mizuho International plc and Mizuho Securities USA Inc. (MSUSA) with stable outlooks. The ratings reflect these entities' strategic importance to parent Mizuho Financial Group, Inc. (Mizuho) and that they will benefit from the same level of government support as Mizuho and its major subsidiaries, including Mizuho Bank and Mizuho Trust & Banking Co., Ltd. Fitch revised the Outlook on PT Soechi Lines Tbk (Soechi) to Negative from Stable, while affirming the Long-Term Issuer Default Rating at 'B+'. The agency is simultaneously withdrawing the rating, as it is no longer considered by Fitch to be relevant to its coverage because Soechi has no bonds outstanding. The rating action reflects the risk that Soechi's FFO-adjusted net leverage will remain higher than the negative rating action guideline of 4.0x (2015 and 2016E: 4.1x), given a lack of cash flow visibility for its shipyard business.
