

Highlights

Global	Market-players lifted financial and technology stocks overnight, especially seen as several financial institutions reportedly increased dividend and bought back shares. GBP gained sharply after BOE chief Mark Carney's comment that "some removal of monetary stimulus is likely to become necessary". In Asia, note that Hong Kong is currently in lockdown as the country awaits for the arrival of Chinese President Xi Jinping. Note also that recent survey by the China Beige Book International (CBB) suggested that manufacturing activity improved further while retail & services industries recovered after a tepid first quarter. For today, look out for US initial jobless claims and personal consumption prints to direct market-sentiment, on top of Hong Kong' retail sales and EC consumer confidence prints.
US	Pending home sales unexpectedly fell 0.8% m-o-m in May, clocking its third consecutive decline. Equities largely reversed the previous session's declines as financials and tech stocks led a rally on Wednesday. Financials were given a big boost as Fed did not object to the capital plans for the large banks. Subsequently, financials led by JP Morgan, Citigroup and Bank of America announced significant increases in their share buyback and dividend payouts. Other sectors, with the exception of utilities, also joined in the fun in the broad-based rally. Overall, the Nasdaq Composite led gains with a 1.43% rise, while the S&P 500 and the Dow also rose 0.88% and 0.68% respectively. VIX down 9.3% to 10.03. US Treasuries were mixed, with the long-end underperforming. 2y and 10y benchmark yields diverged, with the 2y softer by 2 bps to 1.35%, while the 10y firmed to 2.23%, up 2 bps. A chorus of central bank comments appear to signal hawkishness across the board, from UK to Canada.
CH	The RMB fixing on Wednesday was set at 6.8053, stronger than market expectation. We suspect the counter cyclical factor was not included in yesterday's fixing, which should slow RMB's appreciation. The asymmetrical use of counter cyclical factor shows China's bias towards stronger Yuan on the back of steady underlying growth.
KR	Manufacturing & non-manufacturing confidence fell in July, with proportion of companies surveyed indicating concerns over weak domestic demand. Statistically, confidence over sales and new orders declined, dragging down profitability confidence levels as well.
Commodities	Crude oil prices continued to gain, with WTI effectively erasing its losses in the past week. WTI and Brent closed at $44.74/bbl (+1.13%) and $47.31/bbl (+1.41%), respectively. Note recent US department of energy data indicated further declines in gasoline inventories, although crude oil stocks rose marginally by 118k barrels. Palm oil futures fell further to its MYR2,440/MT handle yesterday, led by sustained oversupply woes into 2H17. Note that the most recent data from MPOB indicated that CPO output rose 6.9% in May, while surveys are pointing at Indonesia's CPO production growth at 16.6% in the same month.

Major Markets

- Singapore: The STI index fell by 0.12% to close at 3,215.70. The index was dragged by Jardine Cycle & Carriage (-2.12%), HongKong Land Holdings (-1.61%) and AREIT (-1.5%). However, gains by Hutchinson Port Holdings Trust (+2.38%), UOL Group Ltd (+1.17%) and Wilmar International (+0.57%) cushioned the overall loss.

Bond Market Updates

- Market Commentary: The SGD swap curve bear-steepened sharply yesterday, with the long end of the curve almost 10bps higher, tracking the move seen across global curves post ECB Draghi's perceived hawkish comments. Flows in SGD corporates were heavy, with better buying seen in HSBC 4.7%-PERPs, WINGTA 4.08%-PERPs and STHSP 3.95%-PERPs, better selling seen in OUESP 4.25%'19s, and mixed interest seen in FCLSP 4.15%'27s, LMRTSP 6.6%-PERPs, OLAMSP 6%'22s. In the broader dollar space, the spread on JACI IG Corporates fell by 1bps to 192bps while the yield on JACI HY Corporates rose by 7bps to 6.87%, largely driven by the move in underlying rates. 10y UST yields continue to drift higher, increasing 2bps to 2.22%, while front-end UST yields dipped a couple of bps.
