

Terms and Conditions Governing the OCBC Workplace Wellness Series Events 2026

V19082026

These Terms and Conditions govern participation in Workplace Wellness Series webinars, seminars, talks and related events (each an "Event") organised by Oversea-Chinese Banking Corporation Limited ("OCBC"), either independently or in collaboration with third-party healthcare, wellness, medical and related service providers (collectively, the "Event Partner").

These Terms and Conditions govern the OCBC Workplace Banking Workplace Wellness Series Events. Event-specific details such as the topic, date, speakers, registration link and programme may be set out in the relevant invitation, registration page, email, calendar invite, webinar platform or other communication issued by OCBC.

1. Eligibility

- 1.1. The Event is exclusive to OCBC Workplace Banking customers, including invited employees of selected corporate organisations participating in OCBC Workplace Banking programmes, invited OCBC business customers and such other invited guests as OCBC may approve.
- 1.2 Participants may be required to register through the designated registration channel, invitation link, webinar link or other channel provided or approved by OCBC.
- 1.3 OCBC reserves the right to refuse, withdraw, cancel or vary any registration, invitation or participation at its sole discretion without prior notice.

2. Event Participation

- 2.1 The Event is intended for educational and informational purposes only, and may cover healthcare, wellness, preventive care, fertility, financial wellness and other workplace wellbeing topics.
- 2.2 Participation in the Event is free unless otherwise stated by OCBC.
- 2.3 Participants are responsible for ensuring that they have suitable internet access, devices, software and webinar platform access to attend the Event.
- 2.4 OCBC reserves the right to substitute speakers, amend the Event programme, change the Event date or time, suspend access, or cancel the Event at any time without prior notice.

3. Role of Speakers

- 3.1. The speakers for the Event may be representatives, medical practitioners, specialists, consultants or employees of Event Partners, or such other speakers as OCBC / Event Partners may designate.
- 3.2. Unless otherwise stated, the healthcare content, views, opinions, explanations, responses and materials presented by the speakers are provided by the Event Partners and respective speakers.
- 3.3. The information, opinions, recommendations and materials presented during the Event are provided for general educational and informational purposes only. The Event does not constitute medical advice, diagnosis, treatment, consultation, prescription, clinical assessment or professional healthcare services. Participants should seek advice from qualified medical professionals regarding their individual medical conditions, symptoms, treatment options, screening needs and healthcare requirements.
- 3.4. Any opinion or views of the Event Partners and/or respective speakers are those of the third parties identified, and not those of OCBC. OCBC does not make any representation or warranty, or endorse, verify or assume responsibility for any medical, healthcare, wellness, clinical or other information shared by the Event Partners, the speakers or any third party during or in connection with the Event.

4. Consent and Personal Data Protection

- 4.1. By registering for, accessing, dialling in to, attending or participating in the Event, participants consent to the collection, use and disclosure of their personal data by OCBC and its related corporations, their business partners, agents, representatives and/or service providers (including Event Partners) for the purposes of processing their registration, facilitating and administering the Event, follow-up communications and other applicable purposes as set out in the OCBC Bank Data Protection Policy (available at OCBC website > Personal Banking > Policies). Where participants provide personal data of other individuals, they confirm that they have obtained all necessary consent from such individuals for the same.

5. Recording, Photography and Use of Event Materials

- 5.1. The Event may be recorded, photographed, screenshot, transcribed, or otherwise documented by OCBC, Event Partners and/or their appointed service providers.
- 5.2. By participating in the Event, participants acknowledge and consent to such recording, photography, screenshots, transcription and documentation.
- 5.3. OCBC may use, reproduce, distribute, publish and retain recordings, photographs, screenshots, transcripts, participant comments, questions and related materials for internal, educational, training, marketing, promotional, compliance and archival purposes.
- 5.4. All Event materials, including presentation slides, recordings, documents, images, graphics, webinar content and other materials, remain the property of OCBC, Event Partners, the speakers or the respective rights owners.
- 5.5. Participants shall not record, copy, reproduce, distribute, publish, transmit, upload, modify, commercialise or otherwise use any Event materials without the prior written consent of OCBC and/or the relevant rights owner.

6. Limitation of Liability

- 6.1. To the fullest extent permitted by law, OCBC and Event Partners shall not be liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, consequential, special or other loss, damage, injury, cost or expense arising from or in connection with the Event, including any loss, damage, injury, cost or expense arising from participation in the Event, reliance on information presented during the Event, technical interruptions or failures, unauthorised access, cancellation, postponement or modification of the Event, or any products, services or offerings discussed during or after the Event.

7. General

- 7.1. OCBC reserves the right to amend, vary, supplement or replace these Terms and Conditions at any time without prior notice.
- 7.2. In the event of any inconsistency between these Terms and Conditions and any brochure, invitation, email, registration page, webinar platform description or other marketing or promotional material relating to the Event, these Terms and Conditions shall prevail to the extent of such inconsistency.
- 7.3. These Terms and Conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Singapore, and participants submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Singapore.
- 7.4. A person who is not a party to any agreement governed by these Terms and Conditions shall have no right under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 2001 to enforce any of these Terms and Conditions.